

Tips:

1. Keep it brief. "Less is more". Focus on a specific event w/ the loved one that's personal to you
 2. Personal
 3. Positive
 4. Give copies of eulogy to grieving family
 5. Conversational-act like you are talking to another family member and/or friend
- Focus on the deceased, rather than just your emotions
 - Brainstorm/editing (write down anything, no editing the draft to start out with)
 - Develop a theme
 - "What makes a father special?"
 - "He will live on through"
 - "She taught us the importance of having a good time"
 - "What I learned from my dad.."
 - Quotes, Readings, or Scriptures to help start
- ★ If the eulogy starts out with a question, give examples throughout to help back up that question with answers
- ★ Once the draft is done, make structural changes. Does it make sense?
- ❖ Doesn't mention you more than the loved one that passed

Websites

- <https://www.verywellhealth.com/how-to-write-a-eulogy-5-tips-for-success-1131957>
-

